

1st September 2026

Dear Parent/Carer,

GCSE Summer Examinations 2027

The Joint Council for Qualifications (JCQ), have informed us of a contingency date to put in your diary.

This date may be used if there is any disruption to a day of exams for any reason. In such a case exams may be rescheduled this date. The date set aside for this contingency is Wednesday 23 June 2027 (right at the end of the exam window).

Therefore, candidates/learners need to make sure they are available on this date and must not arrange a holiday until at least after 23rd June – the last possible day exams will take place. The JCQ goes on to say, “if students are not available because they are on holiday and one of their exams is rescheduled to this day, they will not be eligible for special consideration by the exam boards. For this reason, the JCQ requests all schools inform parents and students of this date so that it can be taken into account when making plans for the summer.”

We hope that the use of the contingency days will not be necessary. However, the JCQ request that candidates/learners be available on this date, in case it is required.

Individual examination timetables will be sent out in March along with the reminder of “Information to Candidates” pack which our staff will have discussed during tutor times at the beginning of their course and again during exam assemblies, we encourage parents/carers to look at the “Information to candidates” which can be located on our website (TANMAT.ORG/Examinations) to reinforce the expectations and rules of taking these exams set out by the JCQ to avoid any malpractice.

Working with your daughter/son, please use official exam timetabled dates on the website to start to think about how they will plan for, and manage, their revision as they prepare for their exams.

GCSE results will be released to candidates at the respective sites on Thursday 19th August 2027, timings of the day are to be confirmed and will be announced on our website closer the time.

If you have any queries regarding the 2027 examinations, please contact the Head of Centre for further clarification.

Yours sincerely

Jennifer Frost
Data and Examinations Manager

Leading Parent
Partnership Award

2020–2023

